Davidson of this city made the following statement regarding the financial situation, "The thing that will help most in the restoration of confidence all over the country is the optimistic statement issued by the President this week. Throughout the country there will be people who will depend more upon the word of the President than upon the statement of all financiers of the west and east, who will be led by his assurance and induced to put their money back in the banks allowing the banks to resume normal condition."

HETTY GREEN IS 72 YEARS OLD TODAY

"Richest Woman in the World" Passes 72nd Birthday—Busy, So Overlooks Celebration. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the "richest woman in the world," was seventy-two years old today, but she did not celebrate the anniversary. The present disturbed condition of the business world has kept her busy the past few weeks looking after her vast financial interests. Whether Mrs. Green joined with Morgan, Rockefeller and others of great wealth in coming to the aid of the banks during the recent flurry will probably never be known to the general public. She is an implacable foe to Wall Street and to those financiers who follow its speculative methods, but those in a position to know declare that she is ever ready to lend a helping hand to deserving banks or bankers. When the present financial cloud first appeared on the financial horizon Mrs. Green lost no time in coming to New York from her summer home at Holloway Falls, N. Y., and since then she has remained close to her office in the Chemical National Bank from which she directs the flow of her millions.

HAS BEEN UNDER AN ARREST SINCE WAR

Gen. Pickett's Only Veteran of Civil War Since Has Been Under Arrest Since the Conflict. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Worcester, Mass., Nov. 21.—Gen. Joseph Pickett, the only veteran of the Civil War who has been under military arrest ever since the war, was eighty-five years old today. A year ago he had a fall from which he never recovered, and for some time his condition has been considered serious. Gen. Pickett's record is unique. Paced under arrest by order of Gen. Stannard just before the battle of Cold Harbor, Gen. Pickett has felt it an honor to remain under arrest. A misunderstanding about orders caused a difference of opinion between himself and Gen. Stannard. Gen. Pickett then remarked that when he received orders he could understand he would obey them. That remark caused his arrest. Then came the battle of Cold Harbor. Things looked bad for the Union troops, and, forgetting of his arrest, Col. Pickett jumped to the front of his regiment and led it through the battle. For his conduct he was recommended for promotion by the man who had caused his arrest. The arrest was forgotten. Col. Pickett was made a general, and today there are few outside Gen. Pickett's personal friends who know that the arrest still stands.

LETTERS IMPORTANT IN BRADLEY CASE

Epiletics Written by Mrs. Bradley Will Be Used to Show Premeditation. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—It becomes evident that the various letters written by former Senator Brown to Mrs. Bradley and those written by Mrs. Bradley to Brown will form an important part of the testimony in the case. The government will rely largely upon Mrs. Bradley's letters to Brown to sustain its contention that the killing was premeditated and that there were two addressees to the relationship between the ex-senator and Mrs. Bradley. The cross examination of Mrs. Bradley was resumed at 10:10 this morning.

Mrs. Annie Bradley completed her rambling narrative concerning her relations with former Senator Brown at 12:25 today. She has been on the stand since Tuesday morning and manifested much relief when excused. The proceeding today consisted of the conclusion of the cross-examination and redirect examination. A number of letters were read and many facts relative to the intimacy between the woman and Brown were brought out, although all of them were in the line previously developed.

Mrs. Bradley stated she and Brown were arrested three times on charges of adultery and that Mrs. Brown instigated the arrests. She denied she ever told Rev. Dr. Utter that unless Brown voluntarily married her she would press a revolver against his heart. She and Brown frequently quarreled. On one occasion she struck him in the mouth with an umbrella. The questions then dealt with Brown's jealousy, several names being mentioned including one designated as "The Priest." Mrs. Bradley said Brown always called Utter "The Priest." She said that there was no foundation for Brown's jealousy. Mrs. Bradley left the stand at 12:25, her testimony being concluded. At the afternoon session Dr. Whitney, Mrs. Bradley's physician, testified that Brown came to him regarding treatment to be given Mrs. Bradley consequent to criminal operations performed upon her. Two Salt Lake attorneys who interviewed Mrs. Bradley for Brown with the object of getting her to compromise with him for a money consideration, testified she refused to do so. Col. Kaighn, a Salt Lake attorney, testified Mrs. Bradley came to him in a frenzy and charged him with being a friend of Arthur Brown and said to him that Brown was abusing her and performing operations upon her, and was scandalizing her for not submitting to a fourth operation.

On redirect examination it was brought out that many of the memorandum notes which the defense claimed Walsh had paid were simply renewed.

NO TEN TO ONE A SIGNAL OF DEFEAT

Coach McCarthy Predicts a Victory for Wisconsin Over Minnesota on Saturday Next. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—"Minnesota cannot defeat us by putting up a bluff of wagering ten to one that they'll whip us," declared Assistant Coach Charles McCarthy of the Badger football team. "They've got to come down here and win on their merits and not on the bluntness of the wads they are willing to bet."

Then he added the outright prediction that Wisconsin "will win the big game Saturday." "It doesn't seem that the ten-to-one matter was pretty much of a bluff, for a message came from Minneapolis to the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house that these odds were offered and the Greeks of that house immediately scraped together enough to cover $500 of the gopher offering and wired acceptance and a desire for more. But the money is still waiting here. The players are not confident, but they are desperate and Camp Randall will see the biggest fight of years when the gophers and badgers line up for the last struggle of the season. Hope has multiplied here in the last two days. A heavy, steady rain has been falling, which, notwithstanding the covering of hay on the grilliron, makes it sure that the field will be muddy, a distinct advantage to the Minnesota team which is much heavier than that of Wisconsin. The remaining preparation of the badgers will consist of signal practices, mostly in the gymnasium. Still Coming. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Woodville, O., Nov. 21.—Pedestrian Weston left this morning. His condition is much improved.

GALENA DISTRICT HAS ITS HISTORY

WAS WORKED A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TO A PROFIT.

IMMENSE FIELDS OF ORE

Again Come Into Prominence as Zinc
Producing District of the World.

Interest in the lead and zinc fields of western Wisconsin and northern Illinois is again becoming paramount and it is simply the rekindling of old Galena long ago worked.

Sixty years the Galena district was known the world round for its production of lead for more than the entire days of peace have made zinc its fortune. In between, there were six decades whose story is the story of the world's progress in the arts and industries, and of changes in the methods of deep mining that have changed the fortune of mountain sides and deserts. Meanwhile the hoists and mills of the old lead mines creaked almost unceasingly; the shafts filled with water and the owners turned to farming their property; son and grandson grew to manhood without giving a thought to their underground wealth. Then a few years ago the new value of zinc reopened many mines, but the changed conditions called for big capital and the purchase of this mining property by outside capital marks the new epoch of greatest development in these fields, from plated and zinc lined mineral fields.

In those days of romance, from 1800 to 1810, when the Indians dug "galena" ore for Julien Dubuque in his rich little "kingdom" that included three counties in the Wisconsin of today, one Illinois county of today and a strip now in Iowa they valued only the "galena" ore, but nothing was then known of galvanized iron and steel, nothing of electricity, nothing of photo-engraving and a half hundred other things which nowadays call for zinc by millions of tons per annum. Zinc, now worth 5 cents a pound, was worthless.

Moreover, neither the Indian vassals of the white Frenchman, Dubuque, nor the miners during the halcyon days of this district, from 1840 to 1850, could do more, with their facilities, than scrape off the shining crystals of galena, "galena" ore, down to the water level—only 100 feet at most. The lead below that was left. The zinc ore, "black jack," a grayish black stuff, had no value to them. The richest "black jack" and perhaps the richest lead were deeper, because it had penetrated further into the rocky fissures during the countless prehistoric centuries. But they had no means to work below water level.

Therefore the "big days" in the Galena district left the zinc deposits practically untouched. The rocks were sealed with them, but the "black jack" was not of sufficient value until about 1900 to set men to digging for it in the abandoned lead mines. Even then the digging was in a modest scale. The owners of land in Grant, Iowa and Lafayette counties, Wisconsin, in Jo Daviess county, Illinois, and across the river Clayton county, Iowa, were generally—or most of the time—farmers, although their fathers or grandfathers had perhaps mined in crude fashion for the outcropping galena. They did not have the capital, the equipment nor the mining skill to go down after the zinc ore with the thoroughness of modern methods. As the demand for zinc increased there were some sales and leases of lands to practical miners. Since 1903 the district has been developed rapidly. But the big pumps, big mills and big shafts which were needed meant big investments.

Then last year came a report by H. R. Buhl, the United States Geological Survey on the zinc and lead deposits of the Upper Mississippi Valley which caused an immediate boom in zinc mining. Prof. Buhl's report had pointed out authoritatively the possibility of getting wealth out of the "black jack," of which, it has been estimated, there is $5,000,000,000 in the district.

The State of Wisconsin has issued a report, "The Lead and Zinc Deposits of Wisconsin," which, thoroughly enough, was prepared by Professor Myron Sherman Grant of Northwestern University of Chicago, a grandson and namesake of General Grant, whose home is still one of the landmarks in Galena. This report says, "as in 'general considerations'."

"Mining in this district has been carried on for the last seventy years and is today in many parts of the district done in the same primitive manner that it has been for years past. There still are many lead and dry-bone diggings which are worked only a few weeks or a few months in the year, when the owners are not engaged in the work of farming. In these small mines the work is of a very primitive character and will probably continue to be such. At the same time these mines have produced, are producing, and in all probability will continue for a long time to come, considerable quantities of zinc carbonate and galena."

"In many places the early workings in the district were carried on very thoroughly within limited areas and the evidences of extensive former operations are still quite noticeable. A large amount of this early mining was confined to shallow workings in search of lead. In certain places the ground down to a distance of twenty feet has been literally honey-combed by this early work, so that now there are tracts of many acres in extent, the surfaces of which are rough and broken areas of knolls and hollows. It was customary to sink pits very close together along crevices, and frequently from the bottoms of these pits tunnels were run out. Practically all of the larger mines working today are operating on the lower portions of deposits which were worked close to the surface in years gone by."

"It is only within the last few years that much mining has been done at levels below the water table. And what mining has been done seems to have demonstrated in a large number of cases that below the old ranges, which were worked in past years for large quantities of lead ore, are other deposits of zinc ore with minor quantities of lead. While it is not probable that each one of these lead bearing crevices traced down will develop into a series of flats and plateaus carrying large quantities of lead and zinc, still there is every reason to believe that very many of these crevices do this."

"The recent revival of activity in mining in this district has developed a considerable number of mines which are operated on a more extensive plan than was formerly the case, and which have been able to take advantage of machinery to mine a considerable distance below the level of ground-water. The present development of the region is due in a large part to these more modern methods of mining and concentrating the ore. The plants are, from the nature of the deposits, comparatively small, but are well adapted to the needs of the region. Within the last four years some thirty or more mines have opened up with modern machinery."

"The next few years will see the production of zinc in the Galena district increase by leaps and bounds. The United States has been exporting zinc for years, for we furnish Europe and Germany produce the metal in anything like the quantities that this country does."

Eloping lovers and others who seek hasty or secret marriages will no longer find a Groom Green in the Little Church around the Corner, famous for the romantic unions that have been effected there. This is the decision of Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, rector of the church. Dr. Houghton says that when it is possible publicly must attend any marriage at which he may officiate henceforth.

It is his purpose that the bans shall be published in the old fashioned way before the ceremony so that any third person who may know there are reasons why it should not take place may be able to appear and perhaps save a lifetime of repentance on one side or the other.

TWO HORSES FELLED BY A LIVE WIRE

At Corner of Academy and Wall Streets—Carl Safady and Chas. Davis Narrowly Escaped Injury.
Contact with a broken telephone wire which had fallen across the Janesville Street Railway Co.'s trolley wire at the corner of Wall and Academy streets, knocked two horses down about half-past eight o'clock last evening and the drivers, Carl Safady and Charles Davis, narrowly escaped injury. The first animal to be struck was the horse of the trolley driver, who was on his way to the depot with a consignment from the Hendon & Lane bakery when his horse ran into the wire and dropped in the street. Before warning could be given Davis had come along with one of the Russell Jacks and one of his horses had been felled to the ground. The horses soon recovered from the shocks they had received and Officer Morrissey established himself on guard to warn teamsters until Electrician Quinn arrived on the scene to repair the damage.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—The royal commission named by the Canadian government to investigate the causes that led to the collapse of the Quebec bridge on August 9 Wednesday night made public testimony taken here and at the works of the Phoenix Bridge company at Phoenixville, Pa., in which the president of the constructing company places the responsibility for the catastrophe on Theodore Cooper, of New York, the consulting engineer.

VETO OF THE JONES ORDINANCE PROBABLE

Mayor Heddles is Daily Receiving
Protests From Merchants and Occasional Street Car Passengers.

The Jones ordinance restricting the stops of street cars in the business district to street intersections has not been approved by Mayor Heddles and the indications are that it will be returned to the common council with out his signature at the regular meeting Monday night. Protests from merchants and residents in all parts of the city have been filed with the city's chief executive and he has yet to hear from anyone who is in favor of the measure. It is admitted that such protests are necessary in larger cities where the traffic is congested but it seems to be the general consensus of opinion that such conditions do not obtain here and that the effect of the ordinance would only be to cause discomfort to passengers and hamper the street car company, without any corresponding benefits.

After several hours of deliberation, the jury trying the action of I. W. Wheeler vs. John E. Miller returned to the circuit court chambers last evening with a verdict in favor of the defendant. Palmer of Janesville who gave evidence for the plaintiff and Dr. James Gibson who appeared for the defendant; Chairman S. S. Jones of Clinton, who gave evidence as a road expert, and numerous others. Atty. Louis Avery and William Smith appeared for the plaintiff and Atty. T. E. Nolan for the defendant.

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.
For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white dikes, and by sucking the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Now-bro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

Mr. Lenroot has made some serious charges against men who have served the republican party since its formation, more years than he has lived, by asking them to leave the party they have supported.
Tonight the sporting world is interested in a prize-fight between two aspirants for title honors. In the middle west the game is about dead, but on the coast it still flourishes.

PRESS COMMENT.
Or Is It a Rattle?
Milwaukee Journal: The La Follette presidential drum still thumps occasionally.
Thanks Without Gratitude
Chicago News: Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma to President Roosevelt: "Thank you for nothing."
Watch Us Rise to Emergency!
Exchange: If $200,000 can be raised by subscription to help pay the expenses the Jamestown exposition will be kept open during 1908.
Foreseen by Frantz
Chicago Tribune: Since reading Gov. Haskell's inaugural address some persons have caused to blame ex-Gov. Frantz for taking no part in the parade.
Issue's Not So Dead as That
Milwaukee News: Why not dig up a law authorizing the jailing of greenbacks to carry on the civil war and relieve the stringency and restore confidence?
Is Ready to Compromise
Prairie du Chien Courier: Bryan would make a magnificent secretary of state, equal to Howard or Blaine, but he will not be elected president in 1908.
Has No Terror for Cleveland
Duluth Herald: Third-term talk is obsolete in Cleveland, where Tom Johnson has been elected for his fourth term and is talking about his fifth.
A Harmless Little Bell
Fond du Lac Reporter: Japan is to abolish beheading in favor of life imprisonment—only another indication that the "jap" is mightier than the sword.
Illusion's Age Indeterminable
Exchange: Mr. Bryan's friends think he can be elected, but it is hard to tell whether that is a new thought or one left over from a former campaign.
The Nimrod's "Wolf" Cry
Green Bay Gazette: It is said that there are only a few deer in the northern woods. Safe to say that such tales come from the hunters who have only managed to secure a few.
As It Appeals to Grover
Chicago News: Grover Cleveland must smile internally when he thinks of some of the sarcastic remarks that were made when his presidential campaign was a few bushes of choice-bonds.
Waiting, Fondly Waiting!
Green Bay Gazette: The football teams of the east have apparently demonstrated their superiority over western eleven. But the fun is not yet at flood tide. Wait until A. Alonso Stagg finishes with the Carleton redskins!
Teela's Lack of Reserve
Exchange: Nikola Teela promises to harness Niagara and signal Mars with electric flashes across the void. Why not let Mars open the conversation? It might suggest our motives if we butted in, not knowing how disinterested we are.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

It is soon time to figure upon the Christmas tree and the Christmas festivities. Already the churches are preparing for their annual gathering for children and many little tots have begun dreaming of Christmas trees and Santa and his wonderful pack, dolls and rocking-chairs and dishes and doll-houses and blocks. Christmas means more to the little people than to anyone else. It is a time to make them happy, to rejoice in their happiness. The old days when a trip to the woodlot resulted in bringing back a Christmas tree is past. The old woodlot is now a pasture—the trees are gone. However, up in the northern woods workers are cutting the Christmas trees to be shipped down to the cities and into the tree-lots country to take the place of the home-grown article. Nothing can take the place of the Christmas tree. It is as much a part of Christmas as is the roast beef and plum pudding for the Christmas dinner.
AT PANAMA
Down at Panama they are doing great things to connect the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Congressmen who have just returned from a pleasant junket in that region state that the big canal will be dug in five years if the present rate of progress is kept up. This is encouraging. It means much to the Mississippi Valley as an outlet by cheap freight rates via river transportation for the great South American and Californian territory. The Panama canal is to be built and it is with satisfaction that the people of Wisconsin say that their former able representative in the senate, John C. Spooner, was the man to make this gigantic undertaking possible.
BALLOONITES
The use of balloons in commercial life is far distant, but as a pleasure it promises to rank with automobilizing shortly. The trips through the upper regions of air strata in a fast moving balloon is a sport which those who have participated in say is unsurpassed. Dirigible balloons may come but it will be long before they are perfected. Walter Wellman and his big airship he hoped to reach the pole with is an example of what dreamers hope to accomplish. However, the balloonites are here to stay even if it is a sport for the nabobs only as yet.
CHARITY AT HOME
Janesville has an organization known as the Associated Charities, which brings charity at home to the very doors of the donors, so that they can realize what good their donations really do. The members of the Associated Charities are all gentlemen and ladies who watch carefully the giving to the deserving poor without making the recipients feel they were receiving charity. All contributions, all old clothing and other articles, than can be put to use by the association will be gladly received and the old saying, "Charity Begins At Home," can be enacted right here in Janesville.
The east and the west met on the prairie of Chicago University but the funny thing about it is that the eastern town, the Carleton Indians, all come from further west than Chicago and many of the players once wore blankets instead of clothes.

Down at Panama they are doing great things to connect the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Congressmen who have just returned from a pleasant junket in that region state that the big canal will be dug in five years if the present rate of progress is kept up. This is encouraging. It means much to the Mississippi Valley as an outlet by cheap freight rates via river transportation for the great South American and Californian territory. The Panama canal is to be built and it is with satisfaction that the people of Wisconsin say that their former able representative in the senate, John C. Spooner, was the man to make this gigantic undertaking possible.

BALLOONITES

The use of balloons in commercial life is far distant, but as a pleasure it promises to rank with automobilizing shortly. The trips through the upper regions of air strata in a fast moving balloon is a sport which those who have participated in say is unsurpassed. Dirigible balloons may come but it will be long before they are perfected. Walter Wellman and his big airship he hoped to reach the pole with is an example of what dreamers hope to accomplish. However, the balloonites are here to stay even if it is a sport for the nabobs only as yet.

CHARITY AT HOME

Janesville has an organization known as the Associated Charities, which brings charity at home to the very doors of the donors, so that they can realize what good their donations really do. The members of the Associated Charities are all gentlemen and ladies who watch carefully the giving to the deserving poor without making the recipients feel they were receiving charity. All contributions, all old clothing and other articles, than can be put to use by the association will be gladly received and the old saying, "Charity Begins At Home," can be enacted right here in Janesville.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

It is soon time to figure upon the Christmas tree and the Christmas festivities. Already the churches are preparing for their annual gathering for children and many little tots have begun dreaming of Christmas trees and Santa and his wonderful pack, dolls and rocking-chairs and dishes and doll-houses and blocks. Christmas means more to the little people than to anyone else. It is a time to make them happy, to rejoice in their happiness. The old days when a trip to the woodlot resulted in bringing back a Christmas tree is past. The old woodlot is now a pasture—the trees are gone. However, up in the northern woods workers are cutting the Christmas trees to be shipped down to the cities and into the tree-lots country to take the place of the home-grown article. Nothing can take the place of the Christmas tree. It is as much a part of Christmas as is the roast beef and plum pudding for the Christmas dinner.

JOE BAUER ON STAND TODAY

GAVE EVIDENCE AGAINST HIS FORMER PAL IN CASE.

OF STATE VS. WM. HILLER

Large Gallery in the Circuit Court Chambers—Trial Will Be Completed Tonight.

Joseph Bauer, who arrived here from Waukegan last evening in the custody of Deputy Sheriff, gave damaging testimony against William Hiller in circuit court this morning. He told the circumstances leading up to the attack on the night of Sept. 8, alleging that the men accosted himself, Hiller, and Drafiel, and asked to be shown to a certain resort. When they were unable to gain entrance, according to the witness, Hiller called his two companions aside and said: "Let's knock 'em and get their money." It was agreed, so Bauer said, that the attack should begin simultaneously on Hiller's giving the command: "Knock 'em!" When the plan was carried out, August Drafiel's man got away from him and ran. Bauer said that he knocked a man down and got $5 from his clothes. He swore that he saw Hiller begin the attack on his chosen victim, Albert Zumbach, but the effort was not entirely successful. However Hiller was represented as saying afterwards that if the fellows had helped him he would have gotten some money—that he had gone through the outside pockets but the man had concealed elsewhere. Bauer said that he offered to divide his $5 with the other two, but the three local men were joking with the three local individuals—August Zumbach, Martin Schradler and Martin Wacker—and that Zumbach became angry and struck at Hiller. The jury trying the case is composed of O. H. Hall of Johnston, H. H. Bryce of Avon, E. B. Ellington and Edward Zumbach of Waukegan, J. J. McCarthy of Beloit, L. S. Van Gilder of La Prairie, H. T. Harper of Plymouth, R. B. Harper of Janesville, Martin Schradler of Turtle, and H. E. Schradler of Milton.

SECOND DISTRICT CONVENTION TUESDAY

School Board Gathering Will Be Held in Janesville November 28.

Superintendent Antkowiak has issued the call for the second district school board convention to be held here next Tuesday. The call is as follows: "The annual school board convention for the second district school board of Rock county for 1907 will be held Tuesday, November 26th, at the Janesville high school, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The law requires clerks to attend, and other members of the board may attend. Two dollars for each day and three cents per mile each way is allowed for attendance. The good results of past meetings have been quite noticeable in many districts. The meeting this year will be of more than usual interest and importance, as the important new school laws will be discussed and explained. The superintendent will be glad to have you send in any school questions you would like to have answered."

"State Superintendent C. P. Cary will give an address on 'Consolidation of School Districts.' Assistant State Superintendent J. B. Borden will discuss the new school laws, especially those on 'Compulsory Attendance' and 'Heating and Ventilation'; explaining what will be required to get fifty dollars a year state aid for three years."

"A member of the State Library commission will speak on the cataloging of libraries, and card-indexing will be exhibited."

"This meeting means too much to your district for you to miss it. So every clerk will be expected to be present, and many other board members. Plan your work so as to be present all day, and get all you can of value for your school. Teachers and any others interested in school work will be welcome."

"O. B. ANTSEDEL, Supt."

ASK FOR CHANGE IN INHERITANCE LAW

Green County Board of Supervisors Request Legislature to Amend Present State Law.

At a meeting of the Green County Board of Supervisors held at Monroe this week a resolution asking that the legislature be asked to amend the state law relative to inheritances was unanimously passed. The legislature is asked to change the apportionment of the inheritance tax so that the county will receive 90 per cent and the state, ten instead of five per cent, going to the county and 95 per cent to the state which is the present regulation according to statute. The argument advanced in the resolution for the change in the law is that the county is put at the expense of collecting the tax through its courts and officers and the state then comes in for the lion's share without any effort to collect the tax. A copy of the resolution will be presented to the legislature at its next session.

What Is Going On in New York City Told in Interesting Manner

CURB BROKERS DWINDLE WITH SLUMP IN MARKET

NEW YORK.—The curb crowd is rapidly dwindling, and chaos reigns among the comparatively few brokers of the "outside" market who congregated on Broad street these days. At least 25 per cent. of the men who were selling unlisted stocks during the flush times have departed for more lucrative climes. Many have gone to the western mining camps, and a few have obtained positions in mercantile houses.

Stock exchange houses that had been paying their curb representatives $50 a week have reduced the salaries to $25, and the men have not objected, being glad to get that sum. Only the salaried men on the curb are making money enough to live on. The veterans of the curb are in a measure pleased by this gradual elimination, for it is taking from the market what are known as "wildcat" traders, men who come there to make money any way and with any stock. These have been the first to go, and conservative men do not mourn their departure.

The effect of the lack of business in the outside market is pronounced in many ways. The traders, for instance, in flush times smoked Purto-appearance and almost childlike demeanor. There are times that she has entered the living tomb of her husband pale and wan, but the clouds disappear before she reaches her husband. Her mission there is to carry sunshine.

While showing this devotion to Thaw, the wife gained one distinction last summer. She was the only wife of a millionaire who remained in hot New York while the summer resorts were open.

Thaw's buoyancy is remarkable. Far from fading and wasting away, the prison officials say that he eats like a laborer and his moody spells seem to have disappeared. In fact, he seems to have gained strength in his incarceration.

Thaw, for once, seems to be pleased with the legal arrangements, and appears willing to leave his case in the hands of attorneys.

GOTHAM THE GREATEST THEATRE CITY IN WORLD

NEW YORK is the greatest theater city in the world. Its growth, theatrically, has been phenomenal since 1820, when the Bowery theater was built, in which went the large audiences of those days to hear Forrest, the elder Booth, Charlotte Cushman and others only a little less in ability. Since then the theater center, by easy stages, has gone up Broadway to about Forty-second street, with its arms reaching out into the other boroughs until now the city has 90 places of amusement filled with pleasure seekers during the season.

While New York, with its 4,500,000 of population, has 94 places of amusement, London, with 6,000,000 in its metropolitan district, has 78, and they each average a smaller attendance than do these in New York, and during the season there is a large proportion of New Yorkers in their audiences. Theater for theater, New York has more money invested in buildings and fittings than has London.

At the height of the New York amusement season there are as many as 114,000 persons in its place of public amusement in one night. They are now rapidly approaching that condition since the home-coming season has set in, and the number of strangers is increasing with the advancing autumn. The attendance is now growing from night to night, and is particularly noticeable in the houses where are the more successful plays.

New York city has daily within its borders more pleasure seeking strangers than has London, and after November 1 there will be a daily average of 10,000 out of town patrons in our theaters. It is the exception when a visitor in New York does not go to the theater, even if he stay but one day, and many visitors for a week or more will go to some place of amusement each day of their stay.

Then New Yorkers are natural theater attendants and many of them take all of their relaxation in this manner. This is true of the man with a small salary as well as of the man of wealth, and real sacrifices are often made to save money for theater tickets.

publican affairs, but the old building has been replaced by a new one, much as the old leaders of Democracy have been.

About the only prominent political figure at present closely identified with any metropolitan hotel is Gov. Hughes, who has announced that his legal residence is the Hotel Astor, fronting on Broadway, at Longmore square. If the Hughes political star rises as far as the governor's admirer's expect, it may be that the new Astor will fall heir to the political glories of the old Fifth Avenue. It is more probable, however, that the size of the great new establishment like the Astor and the varied interests centering in them will prevent them from becoming famed especially for their political importance.

Every mother feels a great dread of the pain and danger attendant upon the most critical period of her life. Becoming a mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mother's Friend. "It is worth its weight in gold," says many who have used it. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. The fable that the Centaurs were half man and half horse, like many other old myths, had its origin in reality. It grew out of the horseback riding habit of the Thessalians. Says that Soaps—and not Winds, Chap the Skin and Ruin the Complexion

Many women are cheated out of their daily fresh air exercise in the Fall and Winter by the utterly false notion that their complexion will not stand exposure.

"Chapping" is no indication that you cannot stand exposure; but it is a sure indication that the soap that you are using is drying up the tissues and natural oils of the skin, thus making it harsh, coarse-fibred and "scaly."

E. Burnham's Cucumbers and Elder Flower Cream is a much more effective cleanser of the skin than soap as it removes all impurities from the pores leaving the skin soft, pure and velvety. It will cure all "chapping."

The E. Burnham preparations are for sale by the dealer, named below. Call there and ask for a FREE Sample Bottle of Cucumbers Cream, Hygienic Skin Food or Jasmine Cream and get a copy of the Girl Booklet entitled "How to be Beautiful" which teaches the art of correct massage and care of the skin. CLINTON CARPENTER TAKEN TO MADISON

Was Working There Having Deserted
His Wife in Madison—Arrested
By Police.

According to the Madison Journal, Harold Tollander, who has been working as a carpenter at Clinton was recently arrested there and taken back to Madison on the charge of deserting his wife in that city some months ago. The Journal tells the story quite graphically as follows:

Torn from the arms of the 18-year old daughter of his landlady, Harold Tollander, a carpenter with an Emperor William mustache, was brought back to Madison from Clinton yesterday by Sergeant Jake Fogstad, to answer to the charges of wilfully abandoning his wife and two small children. Through an interpreter in the municipal court this morning Tollander pleaded guilty, but expressed the desire to see his wife before sentence was pronounced. He maintained that his wife had given him good reason for his leaving.

The police had been on the watch for Tollander since last spring. The other day a clue to his whereabouts came, and Mr. Fogstad was sent to Clinton Monday night to search for the man. He learned that Tollander was working as a carpenter in the country near Clinton, and residing in the home of a woman who conducted a boardinghouse. He placed Tollander under arrest, and gave him leave to change his clothes. After he had waited for a long time for Tollander to come out he became curious and finally entered Tollander's room. There he saw Tollander and the young daughter of the landlady clasped in each other's arms, both weeping at the coming separation. The officer was compelled to lead the orline benedict away from the love-lorn maiden, and yesterday he brought the man to this city.

Tollander told Judge Donovan this morning that he knew what the penalty in his case was, and that he realized what he was doing when he left his family, but he pleaded extenuating circumstances. He said his wife had treated him cruelly and inhumanly. District Attorney Mason will file the information on or before Friday morning, and sentence will then be pronounced.

UNIQUE PARTY AT CLINTON TONIGHT

Guests Will Come Attired in Poverty
Costumes to House of C. G.
Hamilton.

Clinton, Wis., Nov. 21.—What promises to be one of the liveliest parties of the season is the six o'clock tea to be given by the Ten Spot Club to the A. K. Q. K. T. Club and the Ladies' Portlight club and their husbands at the beautiful suburban home of Mrs. and Mrs. C. G. Hamilton on West Milwaukee drive this evening. Each guest is expected to appear in poverty costume.

The United Workers of the First Congregational church will give a chicken supper in the church parlors Friday evening of this week. It is suggested by the ladies that everybody come early as Kizer, Howarth, Heron and Narus will be present.

A team belonging to James Winger hitched to a farm wagon took a lively run up Main street yesterday afternoon which looked very serious for a time as the runaways barely missed several teams hitched on the street. In some of the buggies were hollow alone but by rare good fortune none of the carriages was hit but many very narrow escapes were made.

L. M. Cook is gradually losing ground and suffers intense pain a great part of the time. Representatives of the Standard Oil company gave an oil test and demonstration at C. L. Woodward's drug store today.

Madam McGee and Mrs. M. A. Truett, mother and sister of Rev. Clyde McGee, pastor of the First Congregational church, left yesterday morning for their home in Pontiac, Mich., after a visit of several weeks here.

A. E. Pawley of this village, who is acting president of the Elgin College of Physical Training, is here for a few days this week. Mr. Pawley supplied the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Marquette, Sunday, the pastor, Dr. Embree, being a classmate of Rev. Clyde McGee of this place. Mr. Pawley also conducted a rally in the interest of a Personal Work Revival with young men which will be carried on in that city during the latter giving four addresses during the day.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 21.—Dr. R. S. O'Connell, one of the leading physicians of the country and prominent in medical circles located at Cato, had a stroke of paralysis last night and is now in a critical condition at his home. Mr. O'Connell has been located here for thirty years and was prominent in county medical society and in county politics.

As to Berger's Latest Outbreak
Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The address of Victor Berger, the Milwaukee socialist, before the convention of the American Federation of Labor Monday, in which he urged the boycott of the state militia, will not cause any surprise, coming from the source it does. It is to be hoped, however, that the federation may show its good sense by rejecting the Berger program and going on record emphatically in favor of good citizenship, law and order. The hue and cry raised against the state militia by some labor organizations, has been without warrant and a more conservative attitude rather than a more radical position is to be desired. The state militia is necessary to the preservation of order in the event of an emergency, and deserves the support of all good citizens.

Is Constant and Still Young
Milwaukee Free Press: Mr. Melville E. Ingalls says he believes that Mr. Bryan has outgrown his free silver ideas, and that a man does change his notions when he gets past 50. Mr. Bryan has neither changed his notions nor is he past 50; and won't be for three years yet. Mr. Bryan says he has not changed his notions on any of his issues, paramount or subordinate. Of course he is not to blame for the course of gold that has been pursued since the crisis of '73 was ending its way into the hearts of the people of '96.
